

MARCUS Restaurant by Atelier Zébulon Perron at Four Seasons Hotel Montreal Earns Eater's Design of the Year Award

Eater Awards celebrate restaurants that made the largest impact on all 24 Eater cities

December 11, 2019, Montreal, Canada

MARCUS Restaurant by celebrity chef Marcus Samuelsson, designed by Atelier Zébulon Perron at the newly opened Four Seasons Hotel Montreal, has received the 2019 Design of the Year Eater Award. The winner was revealed from a short list of Eater Awards finalists, following a public nomination process.

The award comes in the footsteps of MARCUS' and Atelier Zébulon Perron's nomination to the 2019 Surface Travel Award for best restaurant design in a hotel or resort. The Surface Travel Awards, which have become one of the most prestigious honours in the design and travel industries, recognise the best new spaces experienced by travellers each year.

Since its opening, MARCUS has garnered the attention of world-class publications, including Forbes, Forbes Travel Guide, MAXIM Magazine, DeeZeen, and AD France, as well as a spot on Condé Nast Traveler's 22 Best Restaurants in Montreal.

MARCUS Restaurant and MARCUS Lounge have become Montreal's hottest dining and nightlife destination with a unique offering within its Social Square, in the heart of the city's famous Golden Square Mile. Located inside the recently inaugurated Four Seasons Hotel Montreal, MARCUS is a reinvented brasserie concept centred on fish, seafood and fresh vegetables. The ideal place for a lively all-day crowd of local and international diners.
